

Media Financial Management Association

An Unbeatable ROI

What is MFM?

- The Media Financial Management Association (MFM), founded in 1961, is a not-for-profit professional association dedicated to the unique interests and needs of business and finance executives in the media industry.
- Membership is open to all media industry business professionals.
- MFM also welcomes associate members from allied fields including accounting; auditing; brokerage; law; tax; and other disciplines.
- The Association's approximately 1,200 active members (from 200+ companies) represent the top financial, general management, IT, internal audit, human resources, and other media management personnel from major television networks, network affiliates, ownership groups, radio stations, cable programming networks, MVPDs, games, out-of-home, digital, and newspaper/print outlets throughout the U.S. and Canada.

MFM's Mission Statement

To be the first choice of financial professionals for media industry education, networking, and information sharing.

POWER IN NUMBERS

What Our Members are Saying

For me the best thing is that it's a good networking tool to get to meet other people who share the same chair.

- Dave Bestler, EVP/CFO, Hubbard Radio

A panelist presented a new approach to a process that typically requires us eight days each quarter to complete. I was able to speak with him and learn more about this technique, which would allow us to automate the process and centralize our data. We hope to cut the quarterly process down from eight days to less than a day.

- Amanda Headlee, Assistant Controller, Turner

At the MFM conference, we learned of a technique an industry peer was using which allowed us to save $2.5M/annually in credit card fees.

- Michael Lavey, SVP/Corporate Controller, Tronc

My main reason for joining was because of the annual conference and industry connections that provide invaluable networking opportunities, as well as opportunities to pick up best practices from what peers are doing.

- Steve Hall, VP Finance, Central U.S., GateHouse Media

It's a great organization for networking and to talk to peers about issues we're all facing.

- Dave Bochenek, SVP/CAO, Sinclair Broadcast Group

I've benefited because of the skills I've developed – learning to speak in front of people, organizing, writing, and leadership skills.

- Ana Townsend, Controller, Hearst Television

The sessions that MFM provides as online classes are good and informative. They not only provide valuable insights to Television industry trends, but also help some of my staff fulfill their CPA license educational requirements.

- Hilda Rivera, VP/Finance, ABC Owned Television Stations

The most valuable aspect is the roundtable sessions. They uncover issues that aren't published anywhere. You wouldn't learn about them unless you were talking to someone who'd experienced them.

- Paul Nesterovsky, VP Tax, Sinclair Broadcast Group

MFM Committees

Not-so-Secret to MFM's Success

- Fourteen committees meet monthly between September and April
 - Conference calls last 30-45 minutes
 - Selected calls include guest speakers
 - MFM Board Members typically serve as committee chairs
 - Lead discussions focused on areas identified by committee members
 - Work with committee to identify guest speakers
 - Discussions and guest speakers lead to highly-rated conference sessions
 - Committee networking includes a special lunch at the conference
 - Members are encouraged to join committees that match their interests

What 2017 Conference Attendees Had to Say

- The opportunity to learn from so many industry peers in one place is amazing and appreciated.
- The conference is GREAT!! It offers a forum for idea sharing amongst industry professionals and the ability to communicate with a set of people that you would normally never be able to contact through other channels.
- The MFM Media Focus Conference is an exceptional way for anybody in the media industry to learn, listen, and connect.
- The MFM 2017 conference is a wonderful event. I really enjoyed networking with others in my industry, learning about new areas, and listening to industry leaders.
